SERIOUS QUESTION FACING CHRISTIANS

In the Matter of Conserving Grain Which is Being Used in the Manufacture of Alcohol According to Jno. T. Ditto. Work Through Senators.

Feb. 27, 1918. Editor Breckinridge News, Cloverport, Ky. Dear Sir: In my mind and judgement, there is a very serious question before the Christian people of this country as a duty as a citizen of this government and standing for the best welfare of this country in the conserving of food. The people are willing to make the sacrifice and feel it is all right as Uncle Sam says "do it." But the question is this we are called on to observe wheatless, meatless and eatless meals of many things that have been our custom to using and as I said before the people are willing to do this now why do we stand back and not let our Congress men know that while asking this sacrifice of us that they don't take some steps to suspend the wastefulness of grain by the hundreds of thousands of bushels used in the distilleries.

It is used in making a useless product which every man, woman and child would be better off not to use.

It is time that we who call ourselves Christian men and women should let our Congressmen know that we are looking to him as our servant in Congress and desire that he take some definite action along this line. It looks as if every Bible class and every church as a whole who does not take action in this matter is a slacker.

Not only do the breweries of this land consume the immense quantity of grain but think of the thousands of tons of coal that is being wasted for the production of a product which should be used in feeding hogs and making food for the people in place of producing a product that is for man only.

Now is the time for Christian folks to act. Don't be a slacker. Yours truly, John T. Ditto, Decatur, Ill.

The ferry will be repaired in that city before it is brought back to its own port.

KY. PURE BRED LIVE STOCK

Association Holds a Successful Sale of Shorthorns. Forty Head Average $210. W. R. Moorman, Jr., Has Big Sales

The first public sale of Shorthorn cattle held under the auspices of the Kentucky Pure Bred Live Stock Association at the Bourbon Stock Yards, Louisville, Ky., February 11th. This was the second highest average on Shorthorns, at public sale, made in Kentucky in thirty years.

Forty animals were sold at an average of $210. This is a remarkable average, considering the fact that 50 per cent. of the offerings were calves and there were quite a number of old females. This average for a Shorthorn sale in Kentucky has not been exceeded more than once or twice in the last thirty years.

The top price was $385, paid for the cow, Bessie, consigned by W. R. Moorman & Son, Glen Dean, Ky. Nothing sold for less than $100.

H. T. D. Wills, of Shauns, Tenn., was the largest purchaser.

"We Find God in

Trenches"—Private Peat.

Private Peat, the famous soldier who after two years of the worst part of the war has come back to this country, says in the March American Magazine:

"If you had taken the biggest opportunity life ever held out to a man, wouldn't you smile? If you had gone down into hell for the sake of people who were there already, wouldn't you come back—if you were lucky enough to get back—with a smile? If you had learned more in the past two years about life and all that makes it worth living than you had found out in the previous twenty, wouldn't you be glad as you had never before dreamed of being glad?"

"I've got a right arm that may never be good even for a hand shake—though I hope it will. Instead of a pair of lungs I've got one and a fraction. But what of that? I notice that people care a lot more about gripping my left hand now than they ever used to care about getting hold of my right. I get all the air with one lung that I seem to need, and it isn't hot air either.

"And suppose I hadn't come back at all? I know I'd be smiling now and I wouldn't be doing it in hell, either. That's what you don't realize, you who are here at home. You don't know how things get clear and plain to us in the trenches. Talk about finding your self! We find more than ourselves. We find God."

Seven Years of Army Life.

Sgt. Frank Pate, son of Mr. Ed. Pate of this city is the third Cloverport boy known to be in Camp Green, Charlotte, N. C.

REPORTER SEEKS HIGH PRIVATE

In Camp Jones, Phoenix, Ariz. Priv. Henry DeH. Moorman Gets Another Interview and a Special Mention in Arizona Paper.

Henry DeHaven Moorman, commonwealth attorney for one of the largest judicial districts in Kentucky, county judge, bank director, farmer, railroad attorney and vice president of an oil company, who fought in the Spanish-American war and who for fifteen years has been in the work of the United Confederate association, is at Camp Harry J. Jones.

His home is in Hardinsburg, Ky. Private Moorman—yes, he is a private—is in the headquarters company of the Tenth Field Artillery.

"Why is it Judge Moorman," he was asked, "that you are a private away down there in Arizona, in the Tenth Field artillery?"

Feels Responsibilities.

"Deeply feeling my responsibility as an able bodied man during a world crisis, and wanting to do my bit, I went to the attorney general at Washington. I asked him to please assign me to a regiment so I could do overseas duty. Here I am."

"And how do you like it, Judge?" "I am glad I am here. I like it because I feel that I am serving my country. I am satisfied with my course, regardless of anything that may befall me. I have offered to go direct to France in any capacity; and, if this can not be done, I am ready to go anywhere assigned," he said.

Out at Camp Harry J. Jones a representative of the International went enquiring for Mr. Moorman. The first soldier he asked about Mr. Moorman, replied, "Judge Moorman is in headquarters company up the line. Anybody can tell you where he is."

They All Like Him.

Up the line a crowd of soldiers were getting ready for inspection. When they were asked where Mr. Moorman was, they referred to him as Judge Moorman. They were asked several questions about him, and it was found out that the judge is well liked by the men in his company. They hold him in respect and admiration.

Private Moorman is 37 years old. At a glance one can tell he is every inch a man. He is about six feet tall, weighs 185 pounds, is a very picture of health and has a strong, commanding personality. With a physique full of vigor and power, and with glowing patriotism and sincerity in his deep blue eyes which bespeak an abundance of courage and heroic resolve, he is a man it does a person good to look upon—this private Henry DeHaven Moorman.

Private Moorman has a brother "over there" fighting in the United States army. His brother was a 100 per cent volunteer, too. When Moorman came to Arizona with the Tenth, he wrote to his mother. This is what his mother wrote in return: "I hate to see you go, just as I hated to see your brother go, but since reading your letter and learning how you feel, I have only to say, may God bless you and help you to do what you feel is right and what is your duty—although it breaks my heart to give you both up."

May Get Commission.

Why didn't such a deserving, brainy, talented man get a commission, one may ask. It is prophesied that he will be given a commission when the powers that be realize his sterling worth. But the judge didn't ask for a commission. All he asked for was an opportunity to fight for his country, or to serve his country where he could do the most good.

Judge Moorman went to General Bennett H. Young of Kentucky and asked him for credentials to Senators James and Beckham. The general felt it an honor to give them to him—he said so in a signed newspaper article published in the Kentucky papers about Private Moorman.

When Moorman got to Washington, Senator James introduced him to the adjutant general. "Are you going to apply for a commission?" asked the adjutant general.

Wants to Go Over.

"No, general. I do not ask for a commission. All I want is a chance to fight and serve my country. A private's place is good enough. I should like, however, to be assigned to a regiment which is going to see overseas duty."

And now with the fellows at Camp Harry J. Jones he is proudly wearing the khaki without any black and gold hat cord or any bars, or stars or leaves. He is happy though. He is happy as any man who ever donned a uniform, with the self satisfaction which accompanies a man with a clear conscience who is voluntarily serving his country.
